

delicious deals

$24.95 dinners at more than 200 restaurants

BY PETER M. GIANOTTI
peter.gianotti@newsday.com

Long Island becomes more edible Sunday. The sixth annual Long Island Restaurant Week starts on Nov. 6 and, during the popular promotion, more than 200 eateries in Nassau and Suffolk will offer $24.95 three-course dinners.

They'll be available all night from Nov. 6 to Nov. 13, with the lone exception of Saturday, Nov. 12, after 7 p.m.

That's a lot of eating, at familiar restaurants and eateries that may have been under your radar or over your budget. The menus for Long Island Restaurant Week generally are more limited than what you'd find the rest of the year, but they do give you tastes of the places.

The full listing of restaurants offering the special meals is available at longislandrestaurantweek.com.

Where can I find a spot with a view as good as the food?

Wave Seafood Kitchen in Port Jefferson is harborside;